

Pinelands School of Practical Nursing & Allied Health, Inc.

Master Your Career, Fulfill Your Dream.

February 27, 2012

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is written to recommend one of our graduates, Egle Eitmantyte, LPN as an employee for your healthcare institution. I have known Egle since the beginning of her program at Pinelands school. She has proven herself in being a dedicated student both in lecture and in the clinical area. She demonstrated competency in all areas, performing direct nursing care, providing treatments and administering medications during her clinical rotation, both in the long term as well as the acute care setting.

Egle displays a positive attitude, self-confidence and ability to work well with her peers and clients alike. She provides clients with reassurance and support while explaining a procedure or providing health teaching. As a student, she managed her time with all assignments completed early and accurately. She was a good team player in group discussion and on her assigned units.

Egle is a reliable, responsible and mature young lady. It is with pride, I recommend her for employment as a licensed practical nurse. She will be an asset to your health care facility in whatever capacity she is assigned.

Sincerely,

Jovita M. Francis MSN, RN
Director of Nursing Education
